

ABSTRACT

A pixel structure and a method of repairing the same are provided. The pixel structure comprises a first repairing pattern and a second repairing pattern formed together with scan lines and gates. The repairing method includes shorting the repairing patterns (or one of the repairing patterns) from a data line or a pixel electrode in a fusion process using a laser beam to repair the broken signal lines or defective pixels.